

Curriculum Vitae of Carol Mainprize

Overview

Carol has worked in forensic accounting, specialising in personal injury and clinical negligence work, for over 20 years.

Carol started her accountancy career in a small firm specialising in farm accounts before moving into the firm's tax department.

After working for a year at Ernst & Whinney undertaking mixed tax compliance work, Carol joined KPMG at the beginning of 1989, initially undertaking mixed tax work, and this was where her interest in forensic accountancy work began. Carol worked at KPMG until December 1995 and over the period gradually switched from mixed tax to a mixture of accounting and tax for several large partnerships and forensic accountancy work.

In 1995 Carol moved to Kidsons Impey to undertake forensic accounting assignments and over the period continued her involvement in personal injury cases as well as undertaking a range of commercial assignments including breach of warranty, product liability and criminal defence. During her time at Kidsons Impey (subsequently Baker Tilly) she also continued to be involved in taxation work and trust accounting.

In 2006, Carol moved to Grant Thornton to specialise in personal injury, clinical negligence and industrial diseases and has been involved in a wide variety of cases.

After 7 years with Grant Thornton, Carol joined Longworth Forensic Accounting Limited as an associate on 1 January 2014, to assist with the provision of a niche offering of forensic accounting services in personal injury, clinical negligence and industrial disease cases.
